NOTICE!

Owing to the constant increase of our business calling for service by wagon we find it necessary to limit the hours during which we will receive orders for delivery in the morning. Complaints have reached us of the failure of our drivers to deliver meat in time to be cooked for the midday meal. To better the condition and eliminate such complaints we ask your assistance toward a better service to the extent that you telephone your orders in the afternoon or early evening, or leave a request that you be called before that hour and your order taken by our representative in the office. We cannot under any circumstances guarantee morning delivery of goods ordered after 8 a. m.

TOKIO CHILDREN SANG AMERICA

Remarkable Display Of Good Will Towards
Americans

Tokio, October 19.—Monday morning broke calm and beautiful over Yokohama bay, the harbor being bathed in brilliant sunshine, which threw into strong relief the glistening white sides of the American battleships where they lay at anchor beside the darker Japanese fleet, which showed strongly against the clear horizon.
The first item in the reception to the Americans was the departure of Rear-Admiral Sperry and the Admirals and Captains of the fleet for Tokio.
They were driven to the station in carriages elaborately decorated with flowers, and entered a special train at 9 o'clock. Even the carriages of the train were especially prepared for the occasion, having been newly painted and draped with American flags and beautiful decorations, while the interiors were filled with flowers.
Crowds Line the Way.

Along the whole eighteen miles of the way to Tokio, through a country interspersed with quaint thatched cottages and native villages, there was a continual ovation to the Americans.
Each village school turned out in force, the children lining the track as the train sped by, every pupil waving two flags, an American banner and the emblem of their native land, and everyone cheering continuously. Admiral Sperry bowed his responses from an open window and his officers waved their hats, while the ladies of the party fluttered flags and handkerchiefs from every window of the train.
The trip was one long procession through a lane of waving flags.

The wonderful inspiration of the massed children's voices, representatives of New Japan, was evidently a part of a carefully thought-out plan.
It is the intention of the reception officials to have 1,000,000 school children this week voice the sentiment of the nation's coming generations.
On reaching Tokio the train was met by a committee composed of representatives of every department of the Government. Secretary Jay of the American Embassy and the entire staff from the legation were also on hand to greet the visitors.

Sing "America" in English.
After the exchange of formal greetings on the station platform, a procession was formed, and then came a great surprise when the band struck up the national hymn and 10,000 school children, massed in a chorus which packed the entire approach to the station, sang the words of the hymn in English. The entire effect of the American Naval officers walking through the narrow passage and the walls of the children of Japan singing the national air in English was such as to stir the inspiration and enthusiasm even of the weather-beaten commander of the American fleet, who, with his officers, bareheaded, passed along.

After fifteen minutes of continuous singing the band stopped and the leader stepped out and ten thousand voices cheered again, giving the American cheer three times and a tiger. The American officers were then conducted to carriages in waiting and the work of the day was commenced.

The Admirals of the fleet were driven to the Shiba palace in the imperial carriages, attended by aids. The twenty-seven captains and commanders were taken to the Imperial Hotel.
The streets leading to both places were literally packed, hundreds deep, with madly cheering crowds. The effect of the mass of waving flags resembled a sea of red, white and blue.
The return of Admiral Togo to Tokio after his great victory of the sea of Japan did not arouse as great enthusiasm as was manifested today.
The Admirals received official calls
